Ballot deadline Wednesday night

Four bond issues clear big hurdles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — All four of Gov. James A. Rhodes' ballot proposals cleared major obstacles in the legislature Monday, raising hopes of supporters they will clear the two chambers prior to Wednesday night's June 3 ballot deadline.

During marathon sessions Monday: —The House voted 72-22 for Rhodes' biggest proposal—a $2.5 billion bond issue to help redevelop downtown city areas and finance a host of other capital improvements statewide. The resolution went to the Senate.

—Also approved by the House was a proposal to clarify the authority of the state to issue revenue bonds for housing, nursing homes, and health care centers. That proposal went to the Senate by a vote of 87-7.

—The Senate approved 24-8 a scaled down version of a major transportation bond issue, restoring language that provides $55 million for big city rail commuter service, $50 million for mass transit, and $10 million for airports, all of which had been sidetracked and left up to future legislative decisions by a Senate committee.

—The Senate Ways and Means Committee revived Rhodes' fourth proposal after a meeting between the governor and committee members who included Chairman Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo. It had been feared lost by sponsors earlier in the day.

The latter proposal, also scaled down sharply from what Rhodes requested, would permit the legislature to approve tax breaks for industries locating or expanding in areas "of critical need" in Ohio. Although unspecified, the tax incentives would range from five to 20 years, not the 30 years asked by the governor.

Rules committees of each chamber, now in possession of one bond issue already passed by the opposite chamber, were expected to assign them to standing committees today for prompt hearings.

The $2.5 billion bond issue was expected to go to the Senate Ways and Means Committee, while the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee said it would start hearings on the $1 billion transportation bond issue.

The housing proposal had not been assigned to a Senate committee, having gone over to the upper chamber after it adjourned for the day. The Senate hammered out its major business at sessions that ended in early evening, but the House worked until near midnight.

Although the House debated the $2.5 billion bond issue for more than three hours, only one substantive amendment was adopted. It provides that capital improvements authorized under the proposal must establish so-called "affirmative action" programs assuring that hiring priorities will include minority and other economically disadvantaged groups.

Both parties had defections from their majority ranks, including one Republican who assailed Rhodes' big spending plans as "a rosey road to ruin."

Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, said the program would permit Rhodes to succeed in making Ohio "The No. 1 state in the nation. No other state will have a debt as big as Ohio's."

Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, the spaker pro tem of the House, was among 18 Democrats who bolted away from 38 others who supported the proposal. He said "the governor has no inherent right to place these issues on an election ballot." He called on the House not to fear it was "abdicate its responsibility" in saying no to Rhodes.

Quilter said the state should not place itself in debt over a period of 30 years "because this may very well bring the state to its limit in long term debt." There may be future occasions when Ohio will need to use its credit rating "for things a lot more urgent than this."

Health insurance program faltering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a push for action this year, Congress appears unlikely to enact a national health insurance plan before 1976.

The Ford administration, medical profession and congressional sponsors of the more than 20 pending insurance proposals remain deadlocked over such issues as:

—Whether the plan will cover everyone or only special groups.

—Whether the services will be comprehensive, or restricted to catastrophic illnesses.

PLANS ARE already under way for the annual Memorial Day parade in Washington C.H., according to officials at the Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post 25.

Paul Souther, the parade's grand marshal, said the parade will be held beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, May 30, the traditional Memorial Day date.

All interested parade participants should contact the American Legion post.

Milkmen deliver pantyhose in bid to boost income

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When the milkman comes to the doorway in the Philadelphia area, he may be delivering more than dairy products. He may also offer pantyhose, or other items.

Several dairy firms which decided that the home distribution of dairy products did not provide enough revenue are now also offering baked goods, candy, gift items, cosmetics and other household products.

"Anything to make a dollar," explains William Harbison of Harbison's Dairy.

"My customers like the new products and it's more profit for us," said Bill Hawkins, for 36 years a home deliveryman for Sealtest.

"And there's something else, too. People are short of cash today and they can put the pantyhose or the doughnuts on their regular milk bill and pay later."

In 1962, Harbison's maintained 300 routes; now it's down to 45.

Joe Solly, 56, a Harbison driver-salesman for 27 years, figures the consolidation of routes to serve a larger geographic area has hurt him because he often arrives before the customer is awake or after he has left for work.

"That means I've lost personal contact with my customers," he explained. "I can't sell my products if I don't see the people... and I usually like to push Mrs. Smith's pies and our hand lotion."

Jim Riley, vice president for home delivery at Abbotts Dairies, terms the addition of nondairy items a move "to increase volume per route. We feel that we are now a convenience store on wheels. And we definitely have a future."

Riley said the program really started to grow in 1967 for Abbotts, which pioneered it. He said the sale of items other than milk covers 20 per cent of Abbotts' revenue.

"It's helping carry the load of home delivery," Riley added.

Bechtel Dairy in suburban Montgomery County was the only milk firm contacted in the Philadelphia area which does not offer nondairy items on its routes.

"Our prime function is still the sale of dairy products," said Vice President Robert Bechtel. "And, knock on wood, we are growing continually."

Stickers cause some confusion

Inflation hits auto tags

Last year a $10 bill could purchase a thin steel plate a foot long. This year that same $10 will only buy a small piece of paper approximately one inch in diameter. That's inflation.

Several area residents have already noticed the change this month when they purchased their new license plate validation stickers for their non-passenger vehicles.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Mary D. Jones, deputy registrar of the Washington C. H. license bureau, 606 Rose Ave., the office has been steadily busy with owners purchasing their new stickers.

Although she admitted there was "some confusion at first," Mrs. Jones said the majority of people are aware of the new procedures for licensing of motor vehicles in Ohio which went into effect March 1.

Under the new policy, motor vehicle owners are divided into three categories, with each category given a 30-day registration period for receiving the new license stickers, which are to be placed in the lower right corner of the vehicle's back license plate.

MRS. MARY JONES Shows new sticker

Owners of non-passenger vehicles such as trucks, trailers, campers, motorcycles and all other vehicles except passenger vehicles are registering from

March 1 until May 31; passenger vehicle owners whose last names begin with letters A-K register from April 1-30; and those passenger vehicle owners whose last names begin with letters L-Z purchase their license stickers from May 1-31.

Persons owning both a passenger and non-passenger vehicle may wait until their assigned passenger car registration date if they wish to register both vehicles at the same time, Mrs. Jones added.

Owners are also required to present both an Ohio title certificate and their 1974 registration card under the new policy in order to receive the 1975 stickers. Mrs. Jones said the bureaus are requiring the registration cards for record purposes because the license plate number is listed on the card. The stickers reveal only the name of the state and year they were issued to the type of vehicle.

If either the owner's title certificate or registration card is lost, a duplicate copy can be obtained before registration in the county clerk of court's office.

The cost for the stickers is the (Please turn to page 2)

Energy alternatives pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is described as ready to postpone part of his oil tariffs and the decontrol of domestic oil prices in an effort to forge an energy policy compromise with congressional Democrats.

White House sources indicated he would take these steps perhaps at the same time he vetoes a bill the Democrats pushed through Congress to delay the entire tariff program. Today is Ford's deadline for vetoing the bill.

It was thought that by offering to postpone part of the tariff program, Ford might gain enough votes in the Senate to sustain his veto.

These sources indicate the President would delay for 60 days two scheduled monthly $1-a-barrel tariff hikes and his plan to remove price controls on domestic crude oil April 1.

The bill he has promised to veto would delay the tariff for 90 days and also would apply to the first $1-a-barrel levy imposed Feb. 1.

Many Democrats have opposed both the tariff increase and the end of oil price controls. Those two measures would increase the consumer price of petroleum products.

The Democratic alternatives, led by an increase of at least five cents a gallon in the fourcent gasoline tax, also would raise consumer prices.

Both Ford's and the Democrats' plans are designed to reduce consumption of imported oil, but the Democrats claim that Ford's proposals would do so in a way that would aggravate the economic recession.

By granting the 60-day delay, the White House would be acceding to Democratic insistence that the administration allow time for Congress to develop an energy program. At the same time, Ford would be taking the edge off the drive to override his veto, especially in the Senate, where nose counts indicate a close vote. The delaying bill originally passed 66 to 28 in the Senate.

The veto vote will come regardless of whether Ford defers the second and third stages of his tariff hikes.

The delaying bill passed the House last month by a 309 to 114 margin.

Congressional Democrats thus far have produced two energy plans designed to serve as alternatives to Ford's plan.

King of gypsies succumbs; successor to be chosen

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Beer sloshed on the granite tomb, coins were tossed inside and a five-piece band pumped out "God Bless America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Clothes, a favorite Stetson hat and personal items were piled on the coffin and the tomb was sealed.

Thus, Steve Marks, king of America's estimated 250,000 Gypsies, was buried Monday. His successor will be chosen from among Gypsy state kings within a few weeks.

Marks, 64, died Wednesday in Wichita, Kan. His body was shipped to Portland for entombment in Rose City Cemetery, one of two large Gypsy burial places on the West Coast. The other is in Los Angeles.

Thousands of Gypsies had been expected for the three-day wake and funeral, but a dispute broke out among the Gypsy families when a complaint charging four Portland funeral homes with racial discrimination was filed with the Oregon Bureau of Labor.

Family members said the funeral homes refused to accept the body.

"We offered them money you wouldn't believe," said James Marks II of Spokane, Wash., a great-nephew of the late king and a senator in the Gypsy nation. "One of them told me the only way we would get a funeral home in this city was to buy it."

Explaining the controversy among Gypsy families, Marks said Gypsies aren't supposed to look beyond their own people to solve their problems. He said some families felt the complaint represented a break with tradition and they boycotted the funeral.

A three day wake, with round-the-clock eating and drinking, would have taken place in the funeral home that took the body.

But it was moved to a private meeting hall where about 400 stood or sat by the open coffin eating and drinking until final services in Portland's tiny Orthodox Church.

In spite of the rift, most Gypsy funeral traditions were followed. Women poured water behind the hearse to cleanse the path, but otherwise they stayed in the background and never touched the casket.

Marks described the wake as a bribe to Gypsies already in heaven.

"We assume our king did something wrong, because he died," Marks explained.

"But at the wake, the Gypsies in heaven will look down and say, 'He must have been a good man, a rich man, look at the party he is giving us.' We eat and drink ourselves, but it really is for them."

"What we really are doing is bribing them. They will say, 'Come on in, let him in, he is a good man, a rich man.'"

Capacity crowd forecast for final performance tonight

Over 800 attend Lions Club's variety show

One of the largest opening night crowds ever attended the first performance of the Washington C. H. Lions Club's annual variety show Monday night in the Washington C. H. Middle School auditorium.

A total of 844 persons laughed and applauded as the Lions and Lioness club members staged the musical comedy program entitled "The Four Seasons."

THE DOWNSTAIRS section of the middle school auditorium was completely filled. There are 650 seats in the downstairs section and another 194 persons were seated in the balcony.

A standing room only crowd is expected for the second and final performance of the annual production at 8 p.m. tonight in the middle school auditorium. The auditorium has a total seating capacity of 1,100.

The show, which features popular tunes, snappy dance routines and rib-tickling comedy skits centered around the four seasons of the year, opened with the chorus members entering from the rear of the auditorium and parading to the stage singing "Lions Roar," "Sunny Side of the Street," and "Smile, Darn You, Smile."

Summer is the first season featured and the talented Mrs. Rick Stinson, vocal music director at Miami Trace High School who also directs the show's chorus numbers, performed "Summertime" to open the show in style. Comedy quickly enters the program as bikini-clad Jim Polk prances about the stage while the chorus sings "Yellow Polka Dot Bikini."

BOB WOODMANSEE 'Mr. Banjo'

MRS. RICHARD WILLIS Sings solo number

Nine Lions Club members masquerade as baseball players for "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," a routine which turns out to be both musical and comical. George (Bud) Naylor, disguised as Uncle Sam, leads the chorus in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "Grand Old Flag." The summer portion of the show concludes as Mrs. Otis Hess, Mrs. Stinson, Mrs. Ben Roby and Mrs. Larry Lehman combine their talents for "Summer Knows."

"September Song" opens the fall portion of the program. The number includes a narration by Vic Pontious. A snappy tap dance routine to the music of "School Days" follows and it features Mrs. Ralph Cook, Mrs. Gene Sagar, Mrs. D. R. Junk, Mrs. Mike Flynn, Mrs. Robert Leeth, Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Stinson.

Solo performances by Paul Johnson ("Try to Remember") and Larry Lehman ("Autumn Leaves") precede two skits in which 11 Lions Club members perform football exercises to the music of "Football Hero" and later Mrs. S. E. Vaughn, Mrs. Gary Thompson, Mrs. James Polson and Mrs. Robert Woodmansee do a cheerleading routine to "Across the Field."

Perhaps the production's most popular feature is staged immediately following a 15-minute intermission as a total of 79 cast members led by Santa Claus (Wesley Cox) join to perform "The Twelve Days of Christmas" to open the winter part of the show.

Santa is responsible for singing the many verses of the number while Lion

House and Senate has called for a gasoline tax increase of five cents a gallon; the creation of an independent agency with a standby authority for oil import quotas; and tax incentives to encourage the purchase of autos with high fuel efficiency.

The second program, announced over the weekend by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, calls for a gradual tax hike of 40 cents a gallon, with a tax refund covering a certain basic amount of fuel; and the gradual imposition of oil import quotas as economic conditions permit.

The Ford administration's reaction to the Ullman plan has generally been more favorable than it was to the other plan offered by the Democratic leadership.

Cambodian aid gains supporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the congressional fact-finding delegation to Indochina are prepared to recommend additional U.S. military aid to Cambodia.

Members of the delegation of seven House members and one senator were expected to present their advice today to the House Appropriations subcommittee that is considering President Ford's request for $222 million more in military aid to Cambodia.

Four of the legislators made public statements firmly in favor of more arms aid, two said they were undecided and two said they opposed more military assistance.

Robert Woodmansee provides a change of pace with his expertise on the banjo. Woodmansee's performance includes several popular selections and a few musical tricks.

A duo on "Baby It's Cold Outside" is performed by Otis and Hallie Hess before Rick Stinson, dressed in a U.S. Air Force uniform, sings "I'll Be Home for Christmas." A solo performance by Mrs. Michael Riggillo is included in "The Christmas Song."

Near the end of the winter portion of the program, Father Time (Ben Roby) is chased across the stage by the New Year's Baby (Ralph Cook) while the chorus sings "Auld Lang Syne."

Mrs. Richard Willis opens the spring portion of the show with "Hurry, It's Lovely Up Here." Then Paul and Carmen Johnson sing and dance to the music of "Singing in the Rain."

A solo by Larry Lehman ("April Love") precedes an "Easter Parade" in which Mrs. Daryl Stewart, Mrs. Vic Pontious, Mrs. Richard Wintringham, Mrs. Warren Craig, Mrs. Allen Willoughby, Mrs. Ralph Hyer and Mrs. Willis don colorful outfits which represent styles from past decades.

Sid Terhune sings "Younger Than Springtime" before the finale — a moving rendition of "I Believe" by the complete chorus.

The show, which is one hour and 45 minutes in length, also features a number of extras including appearances by Sam Kimpel in the role of "A Man for All Seasons," and organ selections by Mrs. Earl Hartley before the show and during intermission.

Proceeds from the variety show are used almost exclusively in the Lions Club's sight-saving program and much of the money is spent locally for eye examinations and glasses.

Differences mar oil nations meet

ALGIERS (AP) — As the non-Communist world's major oil exporters opened their first summit conference today, an official report said differences over their future relationship with consumer nations had emerged during preparatory talks.

"Some points of a very political character remain to be settled and the summit will deal with them," the official Algerian news agency reported. It said three days of ministerial meetings had produced "a consensus on virtually all the texts and ideas."

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC — scheduled an afternoon plenary session formally opening the three-day conference with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, leader of a radical group among the oil exporters, as the opening speaker.

Five of the 13 chiefs of state were not present.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was the chief absentee. His country is OPEC's biggest oil producer. Col. Mohammed Khadafy of Libya and the presidents of Iraq, Nigeria and Indonesia also decided to stay away.

Most of the meeting was expected to be held behind closed doors as the leaders considered documents drafted by their finance, oil and foreign ministers on long-term production and price policies and future relationships with the nations that buy their oil.

The chief task of the meeting is to try to put together a unified policy for the future dialogue negotiations with the consumer nations. A preparatory meeting for this is scheduled April 7 in Paris.

Informed sources said the ministers at their meeting Monday agreed to shelve the controversial issue of apportioning production cutbacks if the world surplus continues to threaten the OPEC price structure.

The sources said the ministers got around this problem by declaring it did not exist. They decided that the industrialized countries are making such vigorous efforts to revive their economies that the oil surplus will soon disappear and they can sell all they can produce.

Last week the OPEC oil ministers at a meeting in Vienna agreed that Abu Dhabi could cut the premium it was charging on its high-grade oil because of the drop in demand for it. But this was a special case involving a comparatively small amount of oil.

Four OPEC members — Saudi Arabia, Iran, Venezuela and Algeria — have been invited to a preparatory meeting opening in Paris on April 7. But Algeria has called for a boycott of the meeting unless it is expanded to cover raw materials other than oil.

Diplomatic sources said Algeria demanded that the three other developing countries invited to the Paris talks — India, Brazil and Zaire — be increased to six, including Pakistan, another African country and another from Latin America.

The others invited are the United States, which is strongly opposed to talking about anything but oil, Japan and the European Economic Community.

same as the price of the metal plates in 1974. The state registration fee is $10 for passenger vehicles, plus a 50-cent service charge for the deputy registrar. Registration fee for house vehicles and motor cycles is $5 and commercial vehicles are charged according to their weight.

MRS. JONES said the change to the paper stickers from the use of steel plates was a matter of economics. "The main reasons was the shortage of steel and the increases in cost," she said. The system is also expected to increase convenience and efficiency.

Mrs. Jones noted the stickers will only be valid for 1975 and Ohio is expected to return to steel plates in 1976.

"The plates used in 1974 were not designed to last more than a year but they will hold up the two years with the 1975 stickers. Next year, the plates will be made stronger so they will hold up several years with stickers."

Studded tire bill approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill that would let Ohio motorists use their studded snow tires beyond a March 15 deadline was approved by the Senate and sent to the House Monday by a vote of 30-1.

The measure, by Sen. Jerome P. Stano, D-24 Parma, would set the so called "studded tire season" in Ohio at Nov. 1 through April 15, rather than the present Nov. 15 to March 15.

Rep. Arthur Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, who had an identical measure pending in the House, said he would defer to Stano's measure and begin hearings in the lower chamber on it promptly. Bowers is chairman of the House Highways and Highway Safety Committee.

Ohioans in the state's northeastern "snow belt" requested the legislation, complaining that present law forces them to remove the tires weeks before the end of their winter driving season.

Stock list up sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead again today, powered by hopes for a letup in the pressures of high oil prices.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 12.28 at 765.41 on top of Monday's 14.08 gain. Advances outpaced declines by a 4-1 margin in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Talk continued to spread on Wall Street of a possible break in world oil prices with oil producing nations reported in disagreement over how to keep them at a high level in the face of declining consumption. Another apparent source of enthusiasm was the expectation that President Ford would postpone further oil tariff increases scheduled for this month and next.

Sony, the most active issue on the Big Board, rose 1/4 to 9.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .47 to 78.33.

NYSE trading volume for the first two hours totaled 15.52 million shares, and the market appeared headed for its fifth 30 million-share day since the explosion of activity began toward the end of January.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index advanced .67 to 44.50.

Syntex, the Amex volume leader, was up 1 1/4 at 34 1/4.

Temperatures this afternoon were expected to be in the upper 20s or low 30s, about the same as yesterday.

Further clearing was forecast to spread slowly to the remainder of the state during the afternoon as a high pressure over the lower Ohio Valley moved eastward.

Readings tonight were forecast to drop into the 20s or upper teens under fair skies and rise to the upper 30s or lower 40s Wednesday, along with increasing cloudiness.

By Wednesday the high is expected to be off the Virginia coast, followed by warmer weather in Ohio that is forecast to continue through the remainder of the week.

Conditions were cloudy last night, with scattered snow flurries in eastern and northern Ohio. Temperatures were generally in the low 20s.

Skies cleared at Cincinnati, allowing the temperature to drop to 17 degrees at 6 a.m. for the coldest spot in the state.

Cloudy with a chance of rain or snow Thursday. A chance of rain Friday and Saturday. Warming through the period. Lows in upper 20s and low 30s early Thursday and in the low 40s early Saturday. Highs in 40s Thursday and in 50s Friday and Saturday.

Wasted lubricating oil

Used lubricating oil is being wasted in this country at the rate of about a million gallons a day. The Environmental Protection Agency reports that, of the 1.1 billion gallons of the stuff discarded each year, around 370 million gallons cannot be accounted for. The presumption is that most of it is dumped.

That adds to pollution and is a crying waste of a precious resource. Some effort should be made in Congress to end misuse of a substance which can be reprocessed as a useful commodity.

Until a decade ago, recycled lubricating oil was widely used as a lubricant priced considerably lower than new oil. When the Internal Revenue Service ruled that recycled oil was ineligible for the excise tax rebate on new oil sold to off-highway users, there was less incentive to reprocess old oil and people began simply getting rid of it.

Congress should restore the incentive. Legislation ought to be passed to encourage the recycling of used oil by making this a profitable enterprise. At the same time, standards could be set to guard against allowing reprocessed oil of poor quality on the market. The end results would be to conserve a valuable resource while reducing pollution of sewer systems and waterways.

THESE DAYS . . . By John Chamberlain

Nebraska saves promising experiment

When we sold that wheat to the Russians last year at what turned out to be stupid cut-rate prices, it added plenty to the food bill of the average bread-dependent American family. But that was not the end of the troubles caused by stripping ourselves of our grain reserves. The sudden disappearance of the wheat surplus almost ruined an experiment which may very well enable us to get along on 10 per cent less gasoline for all the automobiles in the United States without cutting back a single mile on car use. A 10 per cent cut in gas consumption would, of course, make us virtually independent of oil from Middle Eastern sources.

Before the Soviets came into the market for the wheat, an act which put its pressure on all grains including corn, the Nebraska legislature had authorized turning a considerable local grain surplus into a fuel that could be used in a one-part-alcohol-nine-parts-gasoline mixture called "gasohol." The experiment was to be carried out in two phases. The results of the first, or "mini," phase, already completed, will not be published until some time this year, but the Nebraska legislature's Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee has deemed the experiment sufficiently successful to justify using 36 passenger cars and pick-up trucks in a "maxi" phase to be carried out under all road and weather conditions. The State Department of Roads plans to use both leaded and unleaded gas in the alcohol mix, with a close watch being kept on engine wear, carbon accumulation and polluting emissions during two million miles of driving.

The "maxi" phase was all set to go when the Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee discovered that it couldn't afford to buy the Nebraska farmers' grain at current high prices. But instead of calling the whole deal off, the legislature has permitted its committee to purchase 14,000 gallons of 200-proof ethyl alcohol from the Georgia-Pacific Corporation in Bellingham, Washington. The alcohol comes from a spent pulping mill liquor that is a pollutant if it is poured into the nearest stream, as used to be the practice in some mill operations. The Georgia-Pacific company had been turning its pulp mill waste into alcohol as part of its own environmental program, and is happy to have found a customer in the State of Nebraska.

Nebraska has been using some 830 million gallons of gasoline a year, which means that it would need 83 million gallons of alcohol to put the whole state on a "gasohol" basis. Naturally, it would prefer to get its alcohol from crops raised on Nebraska farms. But its "gasohol" experiment will not only have to succeed in itself, it will have to be imitated on a national scale if enough oil is to be saved from total oil field production to manufacture the petrochemical fertilizers needed by Nebraska farmers to restore the local grain surplus. The governor of Nebraska has already been quoted as complaining that his state lacks 23 per cent of the fertilizer it needs to produce basic foodstuffs.

The State of Maine has been contemplating turning wood chips from diseased spruce trees into an alcohol fuel for extending the use of gasoline. Wood chips, generally, have a worldwide market as a raw material for hardboard paper. Outside of Maine they are too expensive for use as a raw material for fuel. But if the price of gasoline rises by 15 cents a gallon, as is the latest prediction, it could change a lot of cost factors bearing on the derivation of an alcohol fuel from forest products of any sort. However, the main thing of the moment is that even a wasteful pollutant such as spent pulping liquor has suddenly become a source of energy.

It used to be that, as Maine goes, so goes the nation. Now it is as Nebraska goes, so goes the nation. Queries about "gasohol" are pouring into Nebraska from California, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, Wyoming and even from Australia and Italy. "Gasohol" may yet save us all.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Frances Hasson now has one less bell to answer. She's just retired after 20 years on the front lines at NBC. She helped run the switchboard here.

Like any network phone operator, she was the first to feel the public wrath — and occasional praise — for what was broadcast, in her case by WNBC locally and by NBC nationally.

A short, peppery widow of 65, she has a remarkably unsour outlook on life, despite the grumbles, curses and even obscenity she's had to put up with during her years at NBC.

When cussers call, she says, rolling her eyes and sighing, "they often do it with very dirty words. We just close the key and that's it."

When an angry viewer shouts that he wants to immediately talk to NBC's president, she says, "we have to hold our temper a little bit, be very careful what we say."

"So what we say is, 'We'll be more than glad to pass your comments on, but NBC would prefer that you put it in writing.' If they won't do that, we just have to do the best we can."

"It takes patience galore," says Mrs. Hasson, who was born in Brooklyn, an outpost not known for much patience about anything.

She said the worst time she had at the board — operators at all NBC stations had the same grief — came in late 1968 when NBC interrupted a pro football game to start a movie, "Heidi," at its scheduled time.

"You never saw anything like it," she said, shivering at the memory. "The switchboard blew out 28 times that night."

The televised Watergate hearings and even the resignation of President Nixon on TV also drew a barrage of complaints, she says.

"They just didn't want to listen to it," she said. "Most of the people said, 'We can read all about that in the newspaper. We want our own programs when they're supposed to be on.'"

Farm land tax option deadline

By DAVID TREADWELL
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Monday was the last day for Ohio farmers to take advantage of the farm land tax appraisal option for the 1975 tax year.

The option allowed a farmer to say whether he wanted his land appraised at the current market value or at its value for agricultural use.

This was the first year farmers had such a choice and for farmers with lands bordering metropolitan areas, an Ohio Farm Bureau official said, it could mean a considerable tax savings. "The market value of land around cities is much higher than what you can earn out of it for farming," said C. William Swank, executive vice president.

"In Franklin County, for example, the market value of land is going to be about $1,000 an acre," he said. "Agriculturally, it's not worth that much."

A constitutional amendment, passed as Issue No. 1 by voters in the November, 1973, general election, provided farmers with the alternative of having their land appraised at its value for agriculture.

Before then, all lands were rated at the current market value regardless of their use.

Still, said Swank, the new option may not be something for every farmer to automatically choose.

"Those way out in the country or those in counties that haven't been reappraised recently may already have a low appraisal," he said. "If they have their land reappraised now, even on the basis of its agricultural value, they may end up paying more taxes."

He said help was available to farmers in reaching a decision — from their county auditor, county cooperative extension agent, farm bureau official and soil conservation district office.

PUCO sets hearing

BREMEN, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio will conduct a public hearing here April 8 so citizens can air their requests for a flashing signal at the Carter Street railroad crossing, a spokesman said.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Bremen Rushcreek Fire Department Building.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

You wouldn't believe the questions she's asked

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, my husband was in an auto accident and suffered an injury in his spine that left him paralyzed from the waist down. He has made a remarkable recovery, both physically and psychologically, and gets around very well in a wheelchair.

We are thankful that he is alive and we have both accepted the fact that he will never walk again, but you would not believe some of the questions people ask me. I mean personal questions about my husband's condition. (What he is-and isn't capable of doing.) They want to know if our sex life is over. It isn't. But I resent their prying.

How do other people in this situation handle this problem? I feel like telling them it's none of their business, but I'm not the type to say anything like that.

Is there some way to politely tell them I would rather not answer such personal questions?

STUCK FOR WORDS
DEAR STUCK: Answer their rude questions with another question: In a very pleasant tone, ask, "Why do you want to know?" And then change the subject. (This really works!)

DEAR ABBY: My husband got very upset with me yesterday because I served him his breakfast in my nightgown and bathrobe, which I had never done before.

I couldn't help it, Abby I usually get dressed and all prettied up to serve him his breakfast, but the baby had a bad cold and I was up half the night with her, and I was so tired I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. When I tried to explain this to my husband, he wouldn't listen. He carried on about how his mother always got dressed up in the morning, and he didn't want me to start developing any sloppy habits. Did I commit such a crime, Abby? I don't intend to make a habit of it.

BONE TIED
DEAR BONE: A crime? Certainly not. The next time your baby needs attention during the night, wake your husband and ask him to please take over so you can get your rest. That way you'll be able to dress and get all prettied up to serve him breakfast.

DEAR ABBY: Our son (I'll call him Bob) went off to college last fall, and when he came home for the Christmas holidays, he had long hair and a beard. He looked wild because he never combed or brushed, he just went around with that tangled mess of hair.

My husband couldn't stand the sight of the boy, and told him so. Bob said Jesus had long hair and a beard, but my husband wasn't buying any of that. Finally, my husband offered Bob $500 cash if he would get a short haircut and a shave. Bob agreed without an argument, and everybody was happy. Last weekend, Bob came home unexpectedly and it was plain that he had let his hair and beard grow again. Father was furious and demanded that Bob give back the $500. Bob said he upheld his end of the bargain by getting a shave and a haircut, but he didn't agree to keep it that way for life.

I am in the middle. Where do you stand?

BOB'S MOM
DEAR MOM: I'm with Bob.

Today In History

World Day of Prayer to be observed Friday

The Washington C.H. Church Women United will observe World Day of Prayer at 1:30 p.m. Friday in St. Colman's Catholic Church, 219 S. North St.

According to Mrs. Charles Hurtt, chairman, the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly will be the guest speaker at the local service, which corresponds with the international celebration, sponsored by Church Women United.

Mrs. John Rhoads will appear as soloist with Jeffrey Sheridan accompanying at the organ. Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. C.L. Lewellan and Mrs. Albert Caplinger will read scriptures during the service and four women of the church will serve as ushers.

Offering from the service will go toward five major concerns around the world including higher education for women in overseas Christian colleges; preparation and distribution of Christian literature for women and children in Asia, Africa and Latin America; education for minority women and American Indian youth; ministries among migrant farm workers; and support for the Christian ministry in national parks.

Other short-term projects financed through the World Day of Prayer are reconstruction and rehabilitation services to women and children victimized by war; ecumenical ventures and international conferences for women; pilot projects in self-help programs for refugee women; day care centers; and family planning and health and nutrition clinics.

Mrs. John Crummy, president of Washington C.H. Church Women United, said the public is invited to attend the service.

Senior Citizens birthdays honored at special party

The Fayette County Senior Citizens recently held a covered dish luncheon and program honoring those members with birthdays in January and February.

The birthday honorees were seated at a specially decorated table centered with red carnations, baby's breath and fern. The program was planned by those who had celebrated birthdays in November and December.

The Rev. Henry Simmons said grace before the meal. Miss Mary Frances Snider, director, welcomed new members. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Engeln, Mr. and Mrs. George Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Art Haugen.

Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse, program chairman, introduced the group singing, led by Art Haugen. Songs in the Valentine's Day and Easter atmosphere were sung.

D of 1812 plans meeting

The Major Samuel Myers chapter, U.S. Daughters of 1812 will meet in the home of Mrs. Robert D. Woodmansee at 2 p.m. Monday, March 10, when the annual business meeting will be held.

A Memorial Service is planned, dues are payable, reception for new members, reports of the officers and chairmen and of the nominating committee, and election of officers and installation, will be featured.

Assisting hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. John A. Leland, Mrs. Harry O. Wolfe, Mrs. William H. Theobald, Mrs. Frank Mayo, Mrs. John L. Sagar, Mrs. Harry H. Campbell and Mrs. Paul D. Fairley.

Crusaders Class has class project

Christian Crusaders Class, South Side Church met in Fellowship Hall, Saturday evening. A covered dish meal was served preceding the meeting with the class teacher Dr. J.C. Jordan, giving the invocation.

Mrs. Jordan presided at the meeting due to the absence of Mr. Howard Brooks. Reports were read and accepted. A report was given on the "CRY Room" furniture that has been repaired, which is a class project.

Dr. Jordan brought devotions using as his subject, "Two Foundations from The Sermon on the Mount."

Mrs. Thomas Willis had the evening's entertainment. Being the month of wearing of the green, a 'green' contest was used with all the answers having green etc. The other was to see how many words could be extracted from the words, Saint Patrick. Mrs. John Schiller reported 36 words.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Schiller and Mrs. Stanley Baughn.

Hostesses for the April meeting will be Mrs. Willis Anthony and Mrs. John Sparks. Mrs. Grant Whiteside will provide entertainment.

Singers scheduled at Madison Mills

This Sunday there will be a covered dish supper at 5:30 p.m. at the Madison Mills United Methodist Church. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a program featuring the singing Stritenberger family from the Church of Christ in Christian Union.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Rev. Harold J. Messmer is the pastor.

Engaged

JACKY PENDERGRAFT

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hargis of Rt. 3, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jacky Pendergraft, to Tim Lute, son of Mrs. Charles Dunn of 418 Florence St., and Robert Lute of Dayton.

Miss Pendergraft attended Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School in Wilmington. Her fiancé, a 1974 graduate of Washington Senior High School, has enlisted in the U.S. Navy, and will leave March 20.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Christopher WCTU hostess

Miss Marian Christopher extended the hospitality to the Washington C.H., Women's Christian Temperance Union at her home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. B.E. Kelley brought devotions, paying tribute to Miss Francis Willard whose birthday comes in February. Mrs. Kelley noted that Miss Willard was a scholar, orator and writer, and one person never to be forgotten. She was determined to get rid of alcohol that she did something about it. She organized the National W.C.T.U. The biggest thing she left to all was her spirit. Her last words were: "How Beautiful to be with God."

Mrs. Cloyce Copley presided at the short business meeting, and reports were given.

Miss Mabel Briggs was program leader. She read the 10th. Amendment to the Constitution. She discussed teenage drinking and read the Bill of Rights for non-smokers. They have the right to breathe clean air, the right to speak out, the right to discourage the smoker, to prevent the smoker from polluting the atmosphere, and restrict them from smoking in public, she said.

Others giving readings were: Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Faris Custer, and Ralph Hayes. Following the meeting, Miss Christopher served a salad course, assisted by Mrs. Paris Custer. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Eldon Bethards, assisted by Mrs. Kelley.

The Huntington Bank message center

Message center replaces chimes

The Huntington Bank of Washington C. H. has leased a new "clock" to replace the historic Washington Savings Bank chime clock, which served as a county landmark for over 50 years at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets.

The large computerized message board erected at the bank corner last week acts as a modern substitute for the chime clock by displaying both time and temperature to passersby.

When the old Washington Savings Bank chime clock was transferred from the bank to the lawn of the Fayette County Historical Museum last October, the board of directors at the bank searched to find an adequate replacement, according to Eli Craig, marketing director.

The new "message center" was ordered last November from the American Time Co. in Garland, Tex., and was installed with its own computer center at the bank last week.

Besides exhibiting time and temperature, the message board has a multitude of uses available in the computer bank. Not only does the board flash the time, temperature and date, but also can either type in traveling sentences, spell out words, or display types of banking services offered.

Craig said the sign board will basically be used to display time and temperature, but may also be used to

Prayer breakfast draws 44 persons

"The Importance of Thinking" was the topic at meditation time used by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond for the 44 teens and teachers attending the weekly prayer breakfast at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday.

LuAnn Graham and Linda Hollingsworth, both juniors at WSHS, led the group in singing. Bruce Gilmore, junior at WSHS, offered prayer.

After a breakfast of hot cakes, sausage and milk, Gretchen Owen, senior at WSHS, spoke on "Prayer." She said, "Roll your burdens on the Lord." If you do the casting, He will do the carrying." The next prayer breakfast will be March 11 at 6:45 a.m.

explain banking services, announce community activities or release news events.

Three employees at the bank are being trained to operate the computer and teletype machine which control the message board. The messages are usually programmed in the mornings for that day's announcements and on Fridays for the weekends.

"The nice thing about it is that we can program things we want continued from day to day and we can insert anything, such as a great news break, at almost the time that it happens," Craig said.

The bank has leased the message board from the Texas company for a 60-month period with a chance of renewal for an additional five years.

Fatal shooting brings arrest

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati police said today that they are holding a man in connection with a shooting death before an Alcoholics Anonymous meeting Monday night.

The victim was identified as Leslie Vollmer, 51, of Cincinnati. Police said he was shot through the chest shortly before a meeting at the chapter center in the city's Mount Auburn section.

The shooting occurred in a first floor room at the center, police said.

Shoplifting charge filed

An 18-year-old Washington C.H. youth was arrested by city police at 12:33 p.m. Monday and charged with petty larceny through shoplifting.

Police Chief Rodman Scott reported Randy D. Southworth, 710 E. Temple St., was apprehended when he allegedly attempted to leave the K-Mart store, 1650 Columbus Ave., without paying for two eight-track tapes valued at $12.76 and a box of incense valued at 54 cents, he had taken.

The young man has been released on $1,000 bond.

Meeting slated

The Fayette County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, March 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Landmark feed plant on Old Chillicothe Road.

All members are urged to attend.

VIA project eyed

Elementary library program discussed

BY GEORGE MALEK

The elementary librarian of the Washington C. H. School District and a representative of the Volunteers in Action organization attended Monday's meeting of the city board of education to discuss their roles in assisting the city's youth.

Members of the board of education discussed several major items of school business, but acted only on a number of routine matters.

Mrs. Bruce Galloway, librarian, discussed the formation of the elementary library program in 1972 and the benefits received in the period since. She noted that until the summer of 1972, supplementary reading materials for elementary school children were stored in the individual classroom.

Unfortunately, she said, the number of books in each class was inadequate to provide for the wide range of reading abilities displayed by exceptionally gifted or unusually slow children.

During that summer, the books were collected and a central library was begun in each elementary school, giving each student a much larger collection of materials from which to make a selection. She noted that children are quick to read materials on topics they find interesting, but are very reluctant to delve into new topics. The larger selection offered a much better chance for the student to find a book on a topic he enjoyed and at a reading level which would challenge him.

When asked by a member of the board what supplies were the most needed, Mrs. Galloway said she was seeking an even greater number of books. "When a child comes for information on a particular topic, it is frustrating to both the child and the librarian if no material can be found on the subject," she said. She suggested that encyclopedias might be the most pressing need.

"Although the student may not be able to read the complicated texts of many encyclopedias, a librarian can read and explain it to him," she noted, "And the encyclopedia offers at least a little information on almost every topic imaginable."

VOLUNTEERS IN ACTION was discussed by Mrs. Leroy Davis. She explained that it is an organization of trained adult volunteers who work with problem children. Somewhat similar to the Big Brothers of America program, VIA volunteers are asked to spend a few hours each week with a problem child. The time can be spent in joint activities or discussions of problems, hopefully through an informal combination of both.

Mrs. Davis explained that the program focuses on three groups of children. (1) those who are on probation from juvenile court; (2) those who had been committed to the Ohio Youth Commission and are now returning to the community, and (3) those who have not been in serious trouble, but show evidence of heading toward delinquency.

It is in this third area that Mrs. Davis was most interested in seeking the cooperation of the school administration. "If children who show signs of pre-delinquency can be referred to VIA, they may be helped more readily than at a later time," she said. "And no one is in a better position to recognize this behavior than a child's teachers."

Unlike some similar organizations, VIA will only attempt to help a child who willingly consents to enter the program. "Unless the child wants the program to work, there is little chance for success," she said.

Although children referred to VIA by the court do not have to have the consent of their parents, Superintendent, Edwin M. Nestor noted that before any child was referred by the school the parents would also have to consent.

The court may make participation in the program a requirement for probation, but the school has no such authority, he noted. Board members generally approved and applauded the program, but agreed that VIA could be contacted only after the parents had agreed to such a referral.

STATE FUNDS amounting to more than $90,000 have been appropriated to the city school district. The money was approved for distribution by the Ohio Legislature and became law despite the fact that Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes refused to sign the measure. The sum will be received by the school in four payments before the end of the school year.

Board members discussed the variety of projects and programs for which the money might be used and concluded that increased salaries for school personnel was the most pressing need. No action was taken, however, because state funding for 1975-76 is currently being discussed in the legislature.

Members of the board agreed that any change in the pay schedule could only be made if there was reassurance that the board would be able to meet its new obligations in the succeeding years. Therefore, no salary change will be made until the legislature approves the pending school aid issue. Action is expected this summer.

Adding an automatic heat control unit to the furnace at Eastside School was discussed. Although the controls would cost $1,500 or more, the board decided to look closely into the matter in light of the current shortage of fuels. The installation cost may be offset by the savings in fuel.

Approval by the board was sought and received for the use of a computerized scheduling method for high school students. At a cost of $2 per student, the school system will contract with Litton Automated Business Systems to have schedules for Washington Senior High School students arranged by the computer firm.

It was noted that highly trained school counselors who presently arrange class schedules would be freed for other matters if this duty were delegated to the firm. The company also provides a more sophisticated cross-reference of schedules than can be obtained through manual records.

Superintendent Nestor noted that with the help of an employee provided by the city's Comprehensive Employment Training Act grant, repairs of plaster and painting of the balcony lobby in the Middle School has been completed and made a significant improvement. He also noted that an assistant community education director has been employed through CETA funds.

IN OTHER action, the board:

- approved payment for several college courses and professional meetings for faculty members;
- released a student to attend Miami Trace High School on a tuition basis;
- approved the course "Integrating the Language Arts" for teachers in the system.

Northwest all-stars picked

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Versatile Terry Crosby of Toledo DeVilbiss continues to reap individual awards as his high school career nears a climax. The 6-foot-4, 195-pound senior shared the Ohio Northwestern District Class AAA Player of the Year basketball honors with 6-2 Toledo Scott guard Truman Claytor.

Crosby, already first team All-Ohio in both football and basketball, is the recruiting object of such bigtime college basketball powers as Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Southern California.

Crosby wound up his high school basketball career by averaging 21.5 points and nine rebounds as the quarterback of DeVilbiss' offense.

Claytor, an exceptional outside shooter, poured in almost 22 points a game, spearheading Scott to a 17-1 regular season record.

A district panel of sports writers and broadcasters also voted a tie for Class AAA Coach of the Year between Jim Kirk of Galion and Bill Gladieux of Toledo Rogers.

The Northwestern Class AA Player of the Year was Chuck Thompson, a 5-10 Van Wert guard who broke the single game and season school scoring record. Thompson averaged 27.8 points. The AA coaching honors went to Bob Arnzen, who guided Delphos St. John to a 16-2 mark and No. 4 state ranking.

Mansfield St. Peter's, The AP's regular season poll champion, swept the area Class A honors.

Ron Barbo was Coach of the Year for leading the Spartans to an 18-2 record. His star, 6-5 senior forward Steve Lemming, took Player of the Year laurels. Lemming averaged 19.6 points and 18 rebounds against a scheduled filled with Class AAA and AA foes.

Trace victor loses in sectional final

Portsmouth eliminated Logan in the finals of the class AAA sectional tournament at Rio Grande Saturday night with a 52-43 victory.

Logan ended Miami Trace's season in the first round of sectional play with a narrow 64-61 victory two weeks ago at Rio Grande College.

Logan never led after the first quarter in the defensive battle. The difference in the game was from the freethrow line where Portsmouth hit on 11-14 to Logan's 3-11. The Logan Chieftains hit on 16 of 18 from the charity stripe in the win over Miami Trace.

Center Don Young was the only Logan player in double figures with 11 points. Portsmouth's guard Dan Tyler and center Dave Underwood each hit 15 for the winner. Tyler connected on 7-8 at the freethrow line in the second half to keep Portsmouth out in front.

Logan finished the year at 12-8 and Portsmouth will take its 11-9 record into the district tournament at Athens Friday night.

Hackett Memorial Pace rounds out Lebanon slate

The Lebanon Raceway, slated to start its spring meeting Thursday night with Post time at 8 o'clock, will climax its 68-nights of harness racing with the Fifth Annual James K. Hackett Memorial Pace.

The race, instituted in honor of the London, O., native who died at the Latonia Race Course in Florence, Ky., while driving in a race, is sponsored by the Ohio Valley Standardbred Association and will carry a guaranteed $5,000 purse.

Last year's race was worth $7,600 and track officials expect this year's running will be worth as much.

Hackett ranked with the all-time greats among drivers and trainers in the nation and was responsible for the success of such horses as Best Of All,

Lang Hanover, and Air Medal. He was head trainer for Sam Huttenbauer of Cincinnati and was behind Best Of All when he won the Little Brown Jug.

The Hackett Pace has been scheduled for May 30, one night before Lebanon winds up its spring program.

Corwin Nixon, operational manager, also announced that the track will be the scene of four of the 16 elimination heats in the Ohio Sired Stakes Series sponsored by the Ohio Standardbred Breeders Association.

The series, with total purses of $250,000, will have the three-year-old pace at Lebanon May 16, and the three-year-old trot May 17. Two other races are scheduled during the fall meeting.

Washington girls drop two games

The Washington Senior High School girls' basketball team came out on the short side of two games Monday afternoon at Greenfield McClain.

The girls' varsity team scored only one point in the first quarter and could never get back into the game dropping a 43-20 decision.

Greenfield got most of its scoring power from Cathy Beatty, who scored 18 points.

The reserve girls didn't fare much better losing 21-13. The Washington reserves found themselves tied with Greenfield at the end of the first quarter, 4-4, but the girls didn't score another point until the fourth quarter.

Legion needs manager

American Legion Post 25 is in need of a baseball manager for the upcoming season. Legion spokesman Dick Kelly said unless a suitable manager is found quickly there may not be a Legion team this year in Washington.

The manager of the team does not have to be an American Legion member, but he must have some baseball experience and a general knowledge of the game.

The players are of high school age and the manager will be in charge of picking the team and running the ball club on the field. The American Legion Post 25 Baseball Committee will handle scheduling, financing and transportation.

The South Central Ohio League schedule, which Post 25 is a member, has been completed and a definite commitment of whether Washington will have a team must be made in the next few days.

Anyone interested in the job or who knows of someone who might be interested should contact either Eddie Fisher or Dick Kelly, or call the American Legion and leave their names.

Jaycee tourney set

Director of the annual Jaycee basketball tournament, Rob Munn, has announced plans for this year's tournament.

Entry fee for the double-elimination tourney which runs from March 22-29 has been set at $35 per team. Team rosters and entry fees must be submitted by March 15 when pairings will be drawn at the Jaycee clubhouse.

Munn said he hopes to have about 18 or 20 teams entered, but all teams with less than 15 players on the roster and the entry fee will be accepted.

Tournament games will be played at the Washington Middle School gym. For further information contact Rob Munn at 335-3279.

Relief ace Clay Carroll of the Cincinnati Reds was obtained in 1968 from the Atlanta Braves.

Rose buys 2 season tickets

By The Associated Press
Most players agree that the dugout is hardly the ideal vantage point for the viewing of a baseball game. The view is obstructed and it's impossible to get a vendor's attention.

Cincinnati's Pete Rose did something about that during the off-season: He purchased two season tickets for Reds home games.

"I can complain all I want this year," Rose said, smiling, after disclosing Monday that the seats in Section 104, Row 3, Seats 3 and 4 now are his property. "I'm a season ticket holder."

Of course, Rose will be occupied on the field when those tickets are in use, but at least he can boo or cheer when he pleases now, just like Joe Fan.

"I paid 'C.C.' for them, brother. That's cold cash," Rose said, adding that he already had enjoyed one benefit from the purchase.

"I got a set of Cincinnati Reds' mugs," he said. "They even have Joe Morgan's autograph on them."

While Rose prepared for the Reds' 1975 season at the club's Tampa, Fla., training base, baseball owners went about getting the final few autographs on contracts at a number of other training sites.

Pitchers Mike Torrez and Bob Reynolds signed theirs with the Orioles at Miami, reducing to four the number of unsigned Baltimore players. They are catchers Andy Etchebarren and Earl Williams, second baseman Bobby Grich and outfielder Don Baylor.

Big first baseman Boog Powell ironed out his differences with the Cleveland Indians and signed his pact with the team that acquired him recently from the Orioles. That left only one player, outfielder Oscar Gamble, unsigned for Frank Robinson's first season as Tribe manager. Gamble will not be allowed to work out with the club until he signs, a spokesman said.

One player who began workouts Monday was Henry Aaron, the all-time leading home run hitter who made his debut with the Milwaukee Brewers in front of two dozen reporters and photographers.

"All I have to worry about is having a big year for the club," the 41-year-old Aaron said, adding that as Milwaukee's designated hitter he expected to bat 200 times more than last season when he hit only 20 home runs.

Outfielder Don Hahn signed with the Philadelphia Phillies, while outfielder Rich Coggins already has agreed with the Montreal Expos but has yet to show up at their Daytona Beach, Fla., training facility.

Expos' left-hander Dave McNally remained unsigned Monday, but Montreal Manager Gene Mauch did not express concern.

"There's plenty of time," Mauch said. "It's not as if he had to come down here and win a job."

Catcher Darrell Porter may have to win his job if he doesn't show up soon at the Brewers' camp. Manager Del Crandall said he had no idea where Porter is, although all the other Milwaukee players reported Monday morning.

Indiana maintains lead in cage poll

By The Associated Press
Indiana's Hoosiers, unfazed by the loss of leading scorer Scott May, breezed to victory twice last week to raise their season record to 28-0 and maintain their unanimous top ranking in The Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Coach Bobby Knight's players cruised past Illinois 112-89, then held off Ohio State 86-78 to amass all 41 first-place votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Their 820 points provided a 104-point edge over Maryland, 22-3, which continued its backup roll to the leaders with a 103-82 triumph over Duquesne, a 70-64 decision of Clemson and a 104-87 rout of East Tennessee State.

It was 39 points back to third-ranked Louisville, 22-2, which collected 667 points for a 75-69 victory over West Texas State and a 92-73 verdict over North Texas State.

But from there down, the Top 20 resembled a giant game of leap frog. Only five of the remaining teams continued in positions they had taken earlier.

UCLA, 22-3, moved up from fifth to fourth and 572 points by nipping California 51-47 and bombing Stanford 93-59. Marquette, 21-3, climbed into fifth place from sixth by pounding Oklahoma City 86-65 and picking up 452 points.

Kentucky, 21-4, dropped two notches to sixth place after losing 66-58 to Florida and crushing Vanderbilt 109-84. In seventh was Alabama, 22-3, up a step from last week on the strength of decisions over Georgia and Florida.

Two additional firms locate in mall here

Two additional firms have joined Sabre Systems and Service, Inc., in the new facilities at the Main Street Mall, a renovated version of the former Midland Grocery Co. building on S. Main Street.

Polk Real Estate and William Pool Insurance have moved into their new offices, bringing the total of occupants to three.

Sabre Systems, a local governmental consulting company, was the building's first tenant. The firm will have been in the mall for one year next month. It occupies three offices.

Polk Real Estate occupies five office areas at the front of the ground floor. There are six agents besides James and Ann Polk in the offices. They include Emerson and Bill Marting, who operate their own auctioneering firm in addition to being Polk agents.

Pool Insurance occupies the front office on the other side of the entrance. There are no other agents associated with Pool, and he has only one office.

The Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce has contracted for another of the ground floor offices and is expected to be moving in the near future.

Ed Reeves, State Farm Insurance agent, has assumed the office formerly occupied by Polk. It is located at 122 S. Main St., across from the mall.

As yet no one has filled the office space vacated by Pool. It is an upstairs office above 125 N. Fayette Street.

Dean calling off extended lectures

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Convicted Watergate conspirator John Dean said he will end his college speaking tour as scheduled to end criticism that he is "commercializing" the scandal.

He said he made the decision despite larger and larger financial offers.

"I am receiving phenomenal bids," said Dean, whose appearance at Miami University was protested by 50 students and faculty members, who picketed against his $4,000 speaking fee.

Dean said some campuses were offering him "five, six and seven thousand dollars." He said he still planned to write a book and hopefully, have an end to the Watergate Affair.

"I don't want to be answering questions about Watergate 20 years from now," said the former White House lawyer.

Dean said that he'd prefer to speak "for free. But I can't. I'm in debt."

Dean's tour ends in two weeks, he said.

He told student questioners, following his address, that reports he was making about $100,000 on his six week tour were "exaggerated."

"I thank God for Watergate, in a sense," he said in his text, "that we won't be confronted with something far worse."

Had the scandal not broken, the situation would have become worse, he added.

"Watergate," Dean said, "was the misuse of power by public figures for political purposes."

Watergate for me was the worst experience of my life but also possibly the best," he added. "I will wear the 'Scarlet Letter of Watergate for the rest of my life."

"I got blinded by my own ambition to get ahead and to please my bosses. In hindsight, it certainly wasn't the best way to proceed."

Responding to questions, Dean said: —White House involvement in the coverup might not have been fully disclosed without his testimony.

—He decided at Camp David he would "tell the truth" because he "was in trouble and I decided I would not lie for them."

—H.R. Halderman controlled access to former President Nixon "but Mr. Nixon was always the one calling the shots. It was the President who was very much in control."

—He had no idea of the criteria for the "Enemies List" of the Nixon Administration.

Fried pork chops become weapons

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The police report failed to explain whether the man involved in a family fight just didn't care for his wife's cooking. But the weapon was four fried pork chops.

The woman reported that her husband hit her above the left eye with the meat.

She was treated at a local hospital and released.

She explained to police that her husband "got mad easily."

Traffic Court

Three persons were fined Monday in Municipal Court by acting Judge Otis R. Hess Jr. on traffic charges. A majority of the defendants, cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol, forfeited bonds for failure to appear in court.

Hobart reports earnings down

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Hobart Corp. reported Monday that net sales in 1974 increased by 12.5 per cent over the year-earlier amount, but earnings last year declined compared to 1973.

The company said net sales in 1974 totaled nearly $364 million — its 30th consecutive year of increased sales since World War II.

Net income was slightly more than $19 million, or $1.68 a share in 1974, down from the year-earlier figure of $22.6 million, or $2 a share.

A Hobart official attributed the income decline to unfavorable economic conditions in Europe and the domestic inflationary cost-price squeeze.

Keith Henley resigns from state position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Keith Henley, 33, former head of the Public Utilities Commission Section of the state attorney general's office has resigned to return to private law practice, the Public Utilities Commission has announced.

Henley had been on the attorney general's staff since July, 1972.

Parity ratio out of kilter

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One indicator of the farm economy used by the Agriculture Department, the parity ratio, has moved steadily downward to a point where even its biggest critics might admit that something is out of kilter.

For years some experts have contended that the old parity formula, based on the years 1910-14 when everything was supposed to have been much rosier on the farm, is outmoded and does not show whether today's farmers are well-off or not.

But Congress has said many times in writing farm laws that the parity ratio must be kept by USDA and published regularly in reports relating to prices farmers receive for products and those they pay to meet expenses.

When the parity ratio is at 100 per cent, prices farmers receive and those they pay out theoretically are in tune so that a measure of profit can be expected. That is not true for all farmers, of course, because they are not uniform in production or in management.

The parity ratio, therefore, does have limitations for measuring farmers' financial wellbeing. However, it is still an excellent measurement of recent changes in farm cost-price relationships.

Last week, for example, USDA issued a monthly report showing that prices farmers got for commodities on Feb. 15 were down about 4 per cent from Jan. 15. Compared with Jan. 15, 1974, they were down 17 per cent.

Meanwhile, prices farmers paid to meet expenses last month averaged about the same as they did in mid-January. But those were up 12 per cent from a year earlier.

As of Feb. 15 the parity ratio was 69 per cent, compared with 93 per cent a year earlier, the report said. It was also the lowest since the indicator dropped to 68 per cent in September, 1971.

But individual commodities showed a wide variation. Only six out of 30 commodity prices listed were 90 per cent of parity or more last month. A year earlier, on Feb. 15, there were 17 which were 90 per cent of parity or better.

The Feb. 15 wheat price average was listed at 89 per cent of parity, compared with 148 per cent a year earlier. Corn was 97 per cent against 111 on Feb. 15 last year; and upland cotton was 42 per cent compared with 77 per cent a year earlier.

The report showed that the only farm commodities other than corn which averaged 90 per cent of parity or better last month were barley 117 per cent; cottonseed 98; flaxseed 109; oats 112; and rye 108.

Taft attacks pay raises

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, has proposed legislation to strip the Federal Wage Commission of authority to recommend congressional pay raises, his office announced Monday.

If members of Congress feel they need or deserve a pay raise, it should be presented openly, "not in a closed committee room where the decision to take no action automatically assures a pay raise," Taft said in a statement.

The commission's recommendations for congressional pay hikes automatically take effect unless Congress disapproves within 30 days, a spokesman for the Ohio senator said.

Taft, hospitalized in Cincinnati for a cataract operation, will have Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, resubmit Taft's amendment to the Wage and Salary Act of 1967 to make the changes.

Money Matters

By R. W. Tice

How Do You Want The Pay-Off?

Most people who own life insurance policies have given little thought to the many different ways in which a death claim can be handled.

Usually there is only the thought that the beneficiary would be paid a lump sum, the face value of the policy, in the event of the death of the insured.

However, to meet the best needs of those involved, there is a variety of alternatives available.

One settlement option would provide a regular income, starting at once and continuing throughout the beneficiary's life time.

Another provides an income for a guaranteed period, or until the principal and interest are used.

A benefit can be left with the insurance company-at interest, to be paid to the beneficiary beginning at a specified future time.

So many are the variations and flexibilities that someone, skilled and professional, is needed to review your needs and requirements from time to time. That someone is a good insurance broker.

Congratulations to Conchemco Inc. on the "Best of Show" award, received at the Mobile Home Show held in Louisville, Kentucky.

Don't forget the Shepherd's Club banquet March 5th or the Fayette Cattle Feeder's Association tour March 7th.

Congratulations to those to be inducted into the National Honor Society on March 10th.

When it comes to money, what it can do and how to make the most of it, we at our Bank, your Friendly First National Bank of Washington Court House - we do know our way around. But, when you do need the advice of a good insurance man, or an attorney, we'll tell you!

Commission awards ditch project bid

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners awarded a bid for the long-delayed Perrill Ditch improvement project during their Monday afternoon session.

Lowest of three bidders, Robert E. Huff of Bloomingburg, was granted the project for $9,770.41. The contract had been postponed in October, 1974 after an appeal was filed in Fayette County Common Pleas Court by a landowner, who objected to the construction of an open ditch across her property.

The appeal was resolved during a pre-trial hearing in January when the parties agreed to maintain an open ditch as specified in the project provided a crossing was made over the open portion of the ditch.

Construction is expected to begin shortly on the Perrill ditch project, which was petitioned to measure 7,211 feet from south of Jeffersonville on Ohio 729 to Sugar Creek, with an open drainage ditch extending 500 feet from Creamer Road to Sugar Creek.

Two accidents checked

Two accidents were reported by Washington C.H. police today, one of which involved personal injury.

An accident occurred at the intersection of North Street and Gibbs Avenue at 11:17 a.m. Monday, when a car driven by Kristen A. Smith, 18, of 153 Rowe-Ging Road, was forced to stop suddenly to avoid hitting an unidentified auto which pulled out in front of her.

The Smith car skidded across the street on slippery pavement, striking two road signs and running into the ditch and into the side of a house belonging to John R. Cline, 1128 N. North St.

Police reported Ms. Smith suffered a scratch and bruise on her right leg, but was not treated for the injury.

A car driven by Armanda L. Sanderson, 28, of 1339 Willard St., backed from a parking space at 3:54 p.m. Monday and struck a parked car belonging to Dana Hyer, 1006 Briar Ave.

Police reported the mishap occurred on Market Street, near the Main Street intersection.

An accident reported in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald had the names of the drivers confused. A truck driven by Bud Hamilton, 47, Reesville, backed from a parking space on Hinde Street, near the Court Street intersection, and struck a car belonging to Robert E. Rodgers, 50, of 1032 Millwood Ave., at 1:58 p.m. Saturday.

Kiwanians host district council

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club hosted the Division 10-W council meeting Monday night at the Lafayette Inn.

The main topic of discussion was the Kiwanis International convention in Atlanta, Ga., June 22-25, and the council voted to appropriate funds for the division lieutenant governor and lieutenant governor-elect to attend the convention.

The past lieutenant governor, Fred Daniel, discussed past conventions and showed a film of the convention site. It will be held in the Marimount Inn.

State governor-elect Don Leidy spoke briefly on the fundamentals which comprise a successful Kiwanis Club. Represented at the meeting were clubs from Columbus, Dublin, Grove City, Hilliard, Hilltop, London, West Franklin, West Jefferson, West Side, and Westgate. Washington C. H. Kiwanis club president Guy Foster presided at the meeting.

The next 10-W council meeting will be held June 5 in West Franklin. The meeting will be held in conjunction with a steak fry at Big Darby Creek Park.

Man found sleeping in burglary probe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — It wasn't "Goldilocks" sleeping in his bed so James Robertson called the police.

Arthur E. Holifield, who was shaken awake by police responding to the call Monday morning, was charged with aggravated burglary.

Police declined to say why Holifield had decided to go to sleep.

Police continue burglary probe

Through an investigation conducted by Washington C.H. police officers into the breaking and entering of Marting Manufacturing Co., 806 Delaware St., over the weekend, it has been determined that a total of $52 had been removed from three rifled vending machines and a total of $115 worth of damage done to the machines themselves.

Police reported Monday that the office building had been broken into by burglars who entered through a window on the west side. Only $2 had been determined missing at that time.

Police reported an incident of malicious destruction and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating a burglary and a larceny.

An ale bottle was thrown through the window in the master bedroom at the Fred Jones residence, 1253 High St., at 10:55 p.m. Monday. Police estimated damage at $15.

The Hansel E. Cottrill residence, 817 Conley Court, was entered by breaking a window in the back door sometime between Feb. 27 and 9 p.m. Monday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

Two hammers with "Cottrill" on the handles, an air staple gun, a pair of insulated yellow boots and two work coats were taken.

A blue bumper with no license plate was taken from a truck parked in the National Trailer Convoy parking lot, U.S. 22-E, sometime between Feb. 28 and 5 p.m., sheriff's deputies reported.

FOUND DELINQUENT

Three youths were found delinquent in Juvenile Court for theft-related offenses. A 15-year-old Milledgeville girl admitted taking more than $150 from her father. Two boys who then shared the money were also found delinquent for possessing stolen property. The girl was placed on probation. The boys, Michael W. Wheeler, 15, son of Mrs. Linda Sexton, Deskins Apartments, U.S. 22-E, and Harold R. Jackson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson, Milledgeville, were handed suspended commitment to the Ohio Youth Commission.

FOUND UNRULY

A 17-year-old Fayette County girl was found unruly and placed on probation after she admitted consuming alcoholic beverage in a motor vehicle.

COMMITTED TO THE OYC

Dorothy L. Blake, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Blake, 111 Hickory St., was found to have violated the terms of her probation by running away from home and being truant from school. She was committed to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission.

ADULT IMPRISONED

Bruce Stodgel, address unknown, was sentenced to six months in the Fayette County jail when it was determined that he had violated the terms of his probation. Stodgel had received a suspended six-month sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor when he urged a juvenile girl to forge and cash checks for him. One of the terms for suspension of the sentence was that he was not to associate with the young girl. When it was determined that he had been seeing the girl, Judge Rollo M. Marchant reimposed the original sentence.

JUVENILE TRAFFIC

Douglas McCune, 17, son of Leland McCune, 725 Columbus Ave., and Donald Z. Carson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carson, 715 Columbus Ave., were ordered to attend the next defensive driving course. Each was found to have been speeding.
